UN TRUST FUND TO END VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN
ANNUAL REPORT 2018

INTRODUCTION

This technical annex to the UN Trust Fund's Annual Report 2018 provides an update on the UN Trust Fund's Strategic Plan Results Framework 2015-2020, which was first published on 30 September 2015. This is the second time the UN Trust Fund has published an update to the Results Framework externally and new data collected in 2018 has been presented against targets set for that year.

THE RESULTS FRAMEWORK STRUCTURE

UN Trust Fund Vision (Impact): Women and girls live a life free of violence

Tier 1: Grantee project results

- Outcome One: Improved access for women and girls to essential, safe and adequate multisectoral services to end violence against women and girls (EVAW/G)
- Outcome Two: Improved prevention of VAW/G through changes in behaviours, practices and attitudes
- Outcome Three: Increased effectiveness of legislation, policies, national action plans and accountability systems to prevent and end VAW/G

Tier 2: Grantee institutional results

UN Trust Fund Mission: to advocate for and finance innovative approaches for preventing and ending violence against women and girls, to catalyze learning from global evidence collected from the programmes funded by the UN Trust Fund and to leverage its unique mandate and convening power to foster global giving to EVAW/G.

GRANT GIVING PILLAR

Grantee organizations achieve, replicate and scale up results on EVAW/G through UN Trust Fund-funded projects

EVIDENCE HUB PILLAR

UN Trust Fund projects generate evidence and knowledge that inform and shape the EVAW/G agenda

GLOBAL GIVING PILLAR

UN Trust Fund grantees are visible and create partnerships to mobilize additional public and private financing for EVAW/G programming

Tier 3: UN Trust Fund results

UN Trust Fund's effective management of grant giving ensures strategic and innovative solutions are funded and the capacity of grantee organizations improves to achieve EVAW/G results

The UN Trust Fund creates a platform for harvesting, analyzing and disseminating useful lessons from the evaluated results of UN Trust Fund projects, that measurably informs policy and programming

The UN Trust Fund creates partnerships and mobilizes support for increased and effective global resourcing and commitments to EVAW/G, including for the UN Trust Fund

As the preceding diagram shows, the UN Trust Fund's Results Framework is structured vertically into three tiers of results to represent the results chain set out in the Strategic Plan and how organizations funded by the UN Trust Fund contribute to the ultimate vision of a world free of VAW/G. The structure is also divided horizontally – across the three strategic pathways of the UN Trust Fund's work

- a. grant giving for EAW/G initiatives;
- b. building an evidence hub; and
- c. global giving for EAW/G initiatives.

These pathways are explained in more detail in the Strategic Plan (2015-2020) and accompanying Theory of Change, both of which were independently reviewed – along with the Results Framework – in late-2018 as part of the Mid-Term Review of the Strategic Plan (2015-2020). The Mid-Term Review will be published in mid-2019.

TIER ONE-GRANTEE PROJECT RESULTS:

This tier refers to the results of projects funded by UN Trust Fund grants at the national and local levels, under one or more of the following three outcome areas:

1. improved access for women and girls to essential, safe and adequate multisectoral services to end VAW/G;
2. improved prevention of VAW/G through changes in behaviours, practices and attitudes; and
3. increased effectiveness of legislation, policies, national action plans and accountability systems to prevent and end VAW/G.

Grantees self-report this data, on the basis of evidence collected during project monitoring or evaluation. Results achieved under this tier can only be attributed to the grantee organizations implementing the project. The UN Trust Fund Secretariat is not responsible for these results; however, the UN Trust Fund makes a substantial contribution through its funding to the grantee organizations.

Indicators selected to measure results under this tier are divided between two overall types:

Beneficiary indicators:

UN Trust Fund grantees plan and monitor how many people benefit either directly or indirectly from the project, by type of beneficiary. These indicators enable the UN Trust Fund to monitor results across all projects funded by the UN Trust Fund in the same manner and to track how well the projects are targeting its core beneficiary groups (women and girls) and those most in need (such as women and girls with disabilities). Targets set under these indicators are possible but dependent on future funds available for grant giving and therefore estimates have been included with caveats.

Common indicators (thematic):

UN Trust Fund grantees are asked to monitor one or more of 15 common indicators that can measure results under the three outcome areas in a way that can be aggregated across more than one project. If an indicator is not relevant to their project, then the grantee does not have to measure it. These indicators were developed in 2017 based on those found to be most relevant to the work of grantees and the most feasible for aggregation. Targets are not feasible for these indicators as it is not possible to predict which thematic areas future grantees will focus on, given the demand-led nature of UN Trust Fund grant giving.

TIER TWO-GRANTEE INSTITUTIONAL RESULTS:

This tier refers to results achieved by UN Trust Fund grantees at an institutional level to better achieve results in the field of EAW/G. It is intended to bridge the results of the UN Trust Fund Secretariat and results achieved by grantees. For example, projects need to be managed well to achieve results, which relies on grantees having the institutional capacity to plan and implement projects effectively. The UN Trust Fund provides capacity development support, but ultimately the grantee itself is responsible for implementing any new knowledge gained. Many of these indicators are measured through an annual Grantee Partner Survey, introduced in late 2016. This tracks the impact of the services provided by the UN Trust Fund on grantees, the added value of the UN Trust Fund compared to other donors and grantees' satisfaction with the support provided. In 2018, the Grantee Partner Survey was shortened as the independent consultant for the Mid-Term Review also conducted a survey of grantees and therefore the data for the latter has been used as a proxy for some indicators.

TIER THREE-UN TRUST FUND RESULTS:

This tier represents the results directly attributable to the UN Trust Fund Secretariat including its performance delivering results under each of the three pillars of grant giving for EAW/G initiatives; building an evidence hub; and global giving for EAW/G initiatives. It may be noted that in addition to the quantitative results below, the UN Trust Fund collects important qualitative evidence through project evaluations and progress reports. The voice of the beneficiaries and the perspectives of women and girls targeted by the projects, are the most important results to track. This evidence is summarized in the narrative of the Annual Report and in regular case studies and independent, external project evaluations available on the UN Trust Fund website and a new UN Trust Fund Evaluation Library which was launched in 2018.

RESULTS FRAMEWORK

PROGRESS REPORT 2018

TIER 1: GRANTEE PROJECT RESULTS

In 2018, the UN Trust Fund managed 125 projects aimed at preventing and addressing violence against women and girls in 70 countries and territories<sup>1</sup> with a total portfolio value of USD50 million. However, some of these projects were closed in 2018 and did not contribute to the results indicated below. Of the 83 projects that were expected to have reported some results in 2018, 76 returned data by the date requested. To note, the nature of the UN Trust Fund's modality as a competitive grant-making mechanism makes it challenging to set targets or predict the number of grantees who will report data each year. Estimated targets set in 2017 were based on the average number of beneficiaries reached per organization in 2017, multiplied by the estimated number of active grantees in 2018 and 2019 and then adjusted to account for an expected 90% response rate. Thirty-six new grants were estimated to be awarded in 2018, but only 31 were granted, hence the slightly lower than expected number of responses noted below. This could account for the slightly lower than expected number of secondary beneficiaries.

TIER 1: GRANTEE PROJECT RESULTS – COMMON INDICATORS

UN Trust Fund grantees are asked to monitor one or more of the following 15 common indicators that measure results under the three outcome areas of the Strategic Plan in a way that can be aggregated across projects. The UN Trust Fund cannot set targets for the common indicators as due to the competitive and demand-driven nature of the UN Trust Fund grant-giving process it is not possible to predict the results areas future grantee organizations will focus on. Results should not be compared across the years for the same reason. Instead, these results are intended as a snapshot of the range and scope of results achieved by grantees across the Strategic Plan Outcome Areas.

TIER 2 NOTES:

*Indicators 1.1, 1.2 and 2.1: The meta-evaluation and analysis has been postponed to allow time to incorporate projects that were closed at the end of 2018 to provide a larger evidence base on which to conduct the review.

*Indicator 1.4 shows a slight decline in the % of new grants awarded to women's organizations. This is likely to be due to the opening of the "special window focused on preventing and responding to violence against women and girls with disabilities" which led to the successful targeting of Disabled People's Organizations as well as women's organizations.

*Indicators 1.6 and 3.1 are interesting in contrast. The UN Trust Fund's Grantee Partner Survey shows that grantees were able to mobilize more financial resources for scale-up and replication of the UN Trust Fund project results compared to last year, but less for other EVAW/G projects overall. The latter could reflect shrinking space and declining resources globally for EVAW/G overall. Whilst not entirely under the UN Trust Fund's control, the Secretariat does aim to promote the successful work of grantees to attract more funding, hence the importance of indicator 1.6.

*Indicator 2.3. Lack of staff in 2018 prevented the UN Trust Fund from supporting grantees to develop useful partnerships with research and other institutions as the focus has been on capacity building for project management, monitoring and evaluation. This indicator is tracked to signal the importance of collaboration between researchers and practitioners in the EVAW/G field and the UN Trust Fund's aim to do more on this in 2019 and beyond under the "Evidence Hub" pillar.

*Indicator 3.5. Although the overall % has declined slightly the majority of grantees (70 out of 85 grantees) have reported joining or creating new and useful non-financial partnerships in 2018 thanks to the UN Trust Fund grant.

TIER 3 NOTES:

*Indicator 1.1.1. There has been a slight correction to the wording of the original indicator which in 2017 was listed as "Percentage of grantee projects on track to achieve project output targets". The indicator should have referred to "outcome" targets.

*Indicators 1.1.3, 1.1.4 and 1.1.5 are measured through the annual Grantee Partner Survey which was abbreviated this year to avoid duplication with a survey conducted by an external expert for the Mid-Term Review. Some comparable data is presented, and the full results will be shared in the MTR publication in mid-2019. The MTR survey provides a useful external perspective on the usual survey which is anonymous but not independently implemented. It may be noted that Indicator 1.1.5 cannot strictly be measured yet as the 2018 training for Cycle 21 grantees was still ongoing at the time of the MTR survey. However, this provides some useful data for progress tracking.

*Indicators under Output 2 are somewhat off track for the same reasons as noted under Tier 2, that the "Evidence Hub" pillar was under resourced. This is recognized in the MTR and is being corrected in 2019/20.
